

International Society for Self and Identity (ISSI)
An Interdisciplinary Association for Social and Behavioral Scientists

Dear Colleagues,

In the interest of broadening participation, Self and Identity, the flagship journal of The International Society for Self and Identity (ISSI), is seeking a new editor through an application process. We seek individuals who are interested in becoming editor, an associate editor, but also those wishing to serve on the editorial board. Our goal is to create a pool of applicants from different disciplines in psychology, from different academic family trees, and representing diverse perspectives. Please consider applying, nominating, or forwarding this information to others. The editorial term is four years and would begin January 1, 2020 and continue through December 31, 2023.

Interested candidates interested can contact the current Self and Identity editor, Shira Gabriel, with questions about what the position entails, sgabriel@buffalo.edu. Candidates for Editor and the Editorial Board are not restricted by discipline and membership in ISSI is not a requirement.

In order to apply, please submit your application through:

http://tulane.co1.qualtrics.com/jfe/form/SV\_cMWwMZLmMuQPzIX

Applications are due by June 1, 2019.

Candidates should also send a copy of their CV to Laurie O'Brien, Chair, Self and Identity Search Committee: lobrien2@tulane.edu. The search committee (current editor of Self and Identity, Shira Gabriel, Joanne Wood, and Laurie O'Brien) will make its recommendation to the ISSI Executive Committee and the new Editor will be selected by August 1, 2019.

Thank you,

Serena Chen
President, International Society for Self & Identity
Professor, Department of Psychology
University of California, Berkeley
serchen@berkeley.edu